Help for Crowded Cables

Atlas Is Seen Boon To Communications

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new space communications system tested with President Eisenhower's Christmas message is designed ultimately to provide a new aid to the military services in worldwide communications.

David Young, space technology coordinator for the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency, gave this account today in telling of plans to break current bottlenecks in long-distance communications.

Relay Stations Proposed
ARPA directed the launching of the Atlas which is now orbiting high above the earth with tiny radios and a tape recorder aboard.

Young told a reporter that satellites would be used as space relay stations to transmit messages on high radio frequencies which can not be used in ordinary transoceanic long range radio transmission.

He indicated the system would also add vastly to the message capacity now offered on crowded oceanic cables.

The radio system consists of two devices each a little larger than an ordinary portable radio. Each can receive voice or telegraphic-type radio, store it on a tape recorder, then transmit it to a ground receiving station upon proper command.

Cuts Out Some Signals
Two devices are carried in case one should fail. Each was tuned

Underprivileged Will Be Guests of Police

Underprivileged children of the city will be the guests of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association at a Christmas party scheduled Saturday, Dec. 27, at 10 a. m. in the Community Theatre.

Sgt. Julius Glassman, chairman, said that Santa Claus will arrive on a bicycle during the entertainment. There also will be candy and other gifts.

"Bandits of Sherwood Forest," and eight cartoons will feature the film entertainment, he said.

"The Walter Reade Theatres and Michael Dorso, manager, have generously donated their facilities for that morning and we have received the splendid cooperation of numerous businessmen," Sgt. Glassman said, "and we feel confident that our first annual holiday party for less fortunate children in the city will help to brighten their Christmas season."

Rockefeller Names Bligh As State Safety Director

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter E. Bligh of Syracuse, secretary of the Republican State Committee, will serve as state director of safety in the incoming administration.

Bligh was named Friday by Gov.-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller to succeed Michael H. Prendergast.

Prendergast, Democratic state chairman, was appointed to the safety post by outgoing Gov. Averell Harriman, a Democrat.

Bligh will receive an annual salary of $16,900. The safety division coordinates activities of various agencies to provide the fullest possible protection of lives and property.

Bligh, 60, is a retired Air Force colonel. He served in both World Wars. His background includes experience in business and advertising in both the newspaper and radio fields.

Bligh was born in Holyoke, Mass., and graduated from Georgetown University.

He began his business career with the Paterson, N. J., Press Guardian. In 1932 he became advertising director of the Syracuse Herald and held a similar position with the Syracuse Herald-Journal and Herald-American, starting in 1939.

From 1945 to 1947, he served as president and general manager of radio station WNDR in Syracuse.

Bligh was a field director for the Republican National Committee in 1949 and has been secretary of the state committee since 1953.

Bligh and his wife, Louise, reside in Syracuse.

to a slightly different wavelength. Atlas will pick up only messages which are in a proper code, thus cutting out unwanted signals. Likewise special ground receivers are set to catch only such messages as are addressed to them in their particular codes.

Young said that at present the receiving stations are not placed ideally for a worldwide relay system. It would be ideal—and plans envision this—to have them all located near the equator.

Because the four army stations tracking Atlas in the southern United States are well north of the equator while Atlas' path travels to and fro across the equator, this was a 20-hour delay after launching before the satellite's tracks happened to come close enough to trigger the Eisenhower broadcast.

Bomb May Have Caused Mexican Blast Killing Five

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Police investigated today the possibility that a bomb caused an explosion which killed five persons in a crowded restaurant and bar.

The blast critically injured 13 others Friday night in La Ronda, a popular tourist attraction close to the U.S. embassy.

Police Gen. Luis Cueto said three dead men were restaurant employees, two of them musicians. A fourth, identified only by a ring with the initials R.C.D., also was believed to be an employee.

U.S. Consul Charles Gendreau said the fifth person might be an American woman but this was uncertain.

A party of Cubans was among the patrons, leading police to speculate that a bomb might have been intended for them. Supporters of both President Fulgenio Batista of Cuba and his rebel opponent Fidel Castro live in Mexico City.

The explosion was centered in the bar, knocking out the front walls and causing one car parked outside to explode. The dining area was lightly damaged and the kitchen untouched.

Police ruled out a gas line explosion since that would have damaged the kitchen.

State Due For More Of Freeze

-30 Near Malone; Driving Is Bad On Many Roads

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Update New Yorkers bundled up today against brutal blasts of air that tumbled temperatures to 30 below zero in mountain hamlets.

Another extremely cold night was expected tonight, with temperatures ranging from zero to as low as -25 in the northern Adirondacks.

North Takes Brunt

The North Country took the brunt of the icy winds knifing down from Canada. The unofficial -30 reading was reported this morning at Owl's Head and Mountaintop, near Malone. It was -16 at Malone, -15 at Boonville, -13 at Massena and -12 at Watertown.

Waves of cold air, after a warm day yesterday, iced highways in many sections. Driving was dangerous. Snow flurries pelted some sections.

Heavy wet snow clogged highways yesterday in the snow-weary Boonville area and parts of Lewis and northern Herkimer counties. Two men died when their dump truck and a passenger train collided at a grade crossing near Forestport during the storm.

Fingers of cold reached into all sections, except for New York City. There it was a comfortable 34 above.

Other Low Readings

Temperatures hit -12 at Arcade in Western New York, -7 at Syracuse, -4 at Utica and Plattsburgh and -2 at Utica.

The Weather Bureau reported these above-zero readings: Binghamton and Oneonta 2; Glens Falls 5; Olean and Buffalo 7; Rochester 8; Albany 10; Poughkeepsie 17, Newburgh 21 and Kingston 19.

An all-day rain in snowbound Oswego was turned into an icy mantle by below-freezing temperatures Friday night. Snow on the ground from a recent blizzard still totaled 28 inches.

Sheriff's Office Nips Auction Burglary

The Ulster County Sheriff's Office nipped a burglarly early this morning when it sent two deputies racing to Rob Steele's Auction on Route 9W, just north of Kingston.

An alarm was received by the sheriff's office shortly before 1 a. m. and Deputy Sheriff Michael Stuper and Harrison Rose were dispatched to the scene. Also responding were Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg and County Investigator Arthur Brown.

They nabbed 20-year-old Harry F. Van Kleeck of 119 Downs Street inside the building. Van Kleeck has a record of previous arrests for unlawful entry.

Van Kleeck entered the building by bending iron bars in a small window in the storage section, breaking the glass and pushing away several large crates.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly of Town of Ulster, waived examination and was committed to Ulster County Jail for action by the grand jury.

Operated Taxi Business

Stork, who had been employed as a tester for Electrol for some years, formerly operated a taxi business in Kingston.

He was born in Kingston, son of the late August and Wilhelmina Easman Stork.

Surviving is a son, George Stork Jr., of West Hollywood, Fla., a brother, William H. Stork, and two sisters, Mrs. Abram Van Aken and Mrs. Mary Christiansa, all of Kingston; a grandson.

Blitzen, Dasher, Donder Complain

WASHINGTON (AP)—"There I was on my back at 30,000 feet," wheezed Santa Claus, "and—Whoosh!—this thing whizzed past me and just after I stopped shaking—Whoosh!—this other thing came whizzing past me—"

"There, there, dear," soothed his wife, "drink this nice cup of tranquillizer and relax. After all, you've got a big job ahead of you."

"I do, do I?" said Santa, rising up on one elbow. "Maybe I won't do it this year. Maybe I'll let those sweet little kiddies get their own presents this year. This delivery job is getting too dangerous. Wow!"

"I was making this test run, see, just checking, and these satellite things came whizzing past me from all directions. Golly gee, it was like Labor Day night on a turnpike."

"Mom, I'm getting too old for this job."

"Nonsense," interrupted Mrs. Claus briskly. "Think of all the disappointed children there would be. Think of all the brownies that would be out of jobs in your workshop."

"It's time I thought about my own social security," Santa grumped. "Besides, the reindeer are complaining. Blitzen says he's dashed if he'll stand for this satellite job."

Three Persons Killed In Esopus Collision

Two Victims From Kingston; Other Is Cottekill Man

Three persons died late Friday night in a collision between a passenger car and a station wagon on Route 9W at West Park about two-tenths of a mile south of Burroughs Drive.

They are: David Dalton, 48, of Cottekill, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bongartz, 68, of 106 Franklin Street, who died at Kingston Hospital at 1:50 a. m. George C. Stork, 62, of 231 Albany Avenue, who died at the hospital at 2:25 a. m.

Trooper Near Scene

Trooper James Kaljian of the Highland state police was cruising in the vicinity and came on the accident just after it happened about 10 p. m. Both cars were in flames.

Kaljian and his passenger, Game Protector Al Roberts, leaped from the troop car and put out the flames with a carbon tetrachloride extinguisher.

The Esopus Fire Department also responded.

Trooper Kaljian reported that Dalton was proceeding north in a 1957 sedan when the vehicle skidded on a right curve, turned 90 degrees to the left and smashed broadside into a 1951 station wagon, owned by Monroe Southard of Kingston, operated by Stork.

Pavement Not Icy

The station wagon was traveling south. Impact was in the southbound lane.

The sedan turned over in the middle of the road. The station wagon plunged off the west side of the highway.

Highland state police said the pavement was wet but not icy at the time of the collision.

Dalton has been a resident of Cottekill for the past 14 years. He was business agent and financial secretary of Plumbers Local 223, a member of the Kingston Elks, Masonic Lodge No. 10 and the Rosendale-Tillon Post, American Legion.

Veteran of WW 2

He is a former vestryman of St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls.

He was a veteran of World War 2, serving with the Fifth Marine Corps Division in Japan. Surviving is his widow, the former Evelyn Paff; his mother, Mrs. Rose Bonhamer, and a brother, William Dalton, both of New York City.

The funeral will be held from the Moynihan Funeral Home, Room 1, at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, then to St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls, where services will be held. Burial will be in the Hurley Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral parlors from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 10 p. m. Sunday and Monday.

The raise will go into effect for the Broadway line between uptown and downtown, and on the company's branch lines.

Mrs. Bregman proposes a 10-cent fare riding between the central post office and the end of the line uptown or downtown.

She intends to contact the PSC at 55 Elk Street, Albany, with her proposal, and hopes others will also.

In granting permission to raise the fare, the PSC said the company had lost $10,600 in the 12-month period that ended September 30. Patronage has declined.

The PSC estimated that increase would produce $12,000 more revenue a year, which the agency said, should bring the company close to the break-even point in the next year.

There will be no change in the school fare, 10 tickets for a dollar.

School Aid Grant Now $225,000 More

The enlarged Kingston school system will be eligible during 1959-1960 for one-half of the extra state aid granted enlarged districts, or approximately $225,000 in additional aid.

The grant of additional state aid was announced in a letter from Dr. John P. Jehu, director of the Division of Law, State Education Department according to Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of Kingston Schools.

More Later: Soper

After the school year 1959-1960, the Kingston City Schools will be entitled to the full quota of extra state aid. Dr. Soper said.

Generally, it is necessary for a consolidated school district to be in operation one full year to earn the extra state aid. Kingston is fortunate in this regard in that one-half of the extra state aid will be earned by the enlarged district since the effective date for the consolidation is Jan. 1, 1959.

At the time of the consolidation study in February of 1956, it was anticipated that extra state aid would amount to approximately $435,000 per year. Since the computation is based upon the number of children attending public school and residing in the rural area, it is possible that this extra state aid

Proposal Is Made For Midtown Bus Fare of 10 Cents

It's not worth 20 cents to ride up to the city hall.

This is what a downtown woman said today in protest over a five-cent raise in local bus fare.

Mrs. Adele Bregman expressed her sentiments in a letter to The Freeman. "We have many poor people in the city," she said.

The New York State Public Service Commission on December 16 granted permission for the Kingston City Transportation Corp. to charge 20 cents effective December 21.

The raise will go into effect for the Broadway line between uptown and downtown, and on the company's branch lines.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Co. the world's largest industrial colossus, demonstrated its faith in the nation's economic future by proposing a three-for-one split of the stock and a 10 per cent boost in the dividend.

This is the first stock split in A.T.&T. history, and the first dividend change in 37 years.

The dividend rise will mean a 63-cent dollar bonus for A.T.&T.'s 1,625,000 stockholders. Coincidentally, member companies of A.T.&T.'s Bell System in 11 states have rate increase applications pending for almost that amount.

Avowed objective of the stock split: to create a broader market for the company's shares by breaking them into smaller pieces (A.T.&T. closed Friday on the New York Stock Exchange at $223.50 a share). In the A.T.&T.'s own words, "it will strengthen the position of the company in competing for the large amounts of equity capital that will be needed in the future to meet the nation's requirements for telephone service in our expanding economy."

While A.T.&T.'s surprise move bolstered confidence in the nation's economy, successful launching of the 4½-ton Atlas missile restored the public's lagging faith in U. S. prowess in the realm of space. As the huge Atlas, more than 2½ tons heavier than Russia's biggest Sputnik, orbited around the globe, shares of companies that helped build or fuel the Atlas rocketed through the roof.

Stock sales totaled 18,656,430 shares in the latest week compared to 19,094,914 shares in the previous week and 13,173,320 in the corresponding week a year ago.

Bond sales had a par value of $34,850,000 in the latest week, $32,377,500 in the previous week and $27,343,500 in the same 1957 week.

Here again, as with A.T.&T., the accent was on the increasing importance of communications. Experts said the Atlas marks an important first step toward radio communication with satellites—an achievement which may pave the way for manned space flights.

Back in the earthbound world of commerce, signs continued to multiply this week that the recovery from recession was still in high gear.

New Car Sales Gain

New car sales took a sharp turn upward. Despite a crippling strike at Chrysler Corp., the auto industry set a production goal of half a million cars this month. For the first three months of 1959 it set a quota of 1,644,000 cars. That would

Traveler Sends Out Ike's Talk

Hand of West Is Strengthened by Big Space Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's pride of the heavens soared high around the world today ready to send anew a presidential yuletide message of good will.

Jubilant architects of the four-ton Atlas said it would be early afternoon before they decide about retriggering their talking satellite to broadcast tape-recorded words from President Eisenhower.

Promises Great Strides

The next step, when the scientists figure they have enough initial data in hand, will be to erase the message and send up another to be released by remote control as Atlas continues its travels.

This second phase of the pioneering project promised to point the way to a revolution in communications—mass transmissions of sound and pictures to anywhere on earth through a satellite network.

And in the hours following Atlas' mighty blastoff from its Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site Thursday night, statesmen assessed its boost to U. S. strength in the great East-West struggle.

Message in Cone

Atlas struck another propaganda blow for this country at 3:15 p. m. Friday when, zipping at 17,000 m.p.h. over Cape Canaveral, it rebroadcast as scheduled a short Eisenhower message recorded Tuesday and carried aloft in the nose cone.

"This is the President of the United States speaking," came the dramatic playback of Eisenhower's voice through some static and fading as in the early days of shortwave.

Through the marvels of scientific advance, my voice is coming to you from a satellite traveling in outer space.

Best Wishes for Season

"My message is a simple one. Through this unique means I convey to you and to all mankind America's wish for peace on earth and good will toward men everywhere."

Eisenhower himself joined reporters in the office of presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty to hear his voice on a Pentagon-supplied recording of the signal reaching Canaveral.

The President, in high spirits, fiddled with glasses in one hand as he listened intently. One sentence came through garbled "but it didn't hurt the message any," Eisenhower said. Hagerty supplied the full text.

Eisenhower said perhaps television-in-space would be the next astounding invention. He laughed when a newsman suggested presidential news conferences might be held that way.

"Where would you people like

Atlas Shot, Stock Split New Boosts for Business

By WALTER BREEDER JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—From Wall Street to Cape Canaveral, a happy combination of circumstances and events added lustre to an already brightening business scene this week.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co. the world's largest industrial colossus, demonstrated its faith in the nation's economic future by proposing a three-for-one split of the stock and a 10 per cent boost in the dividend.

This is the first stock split in A.T.&T. history, and the first dividend change in 37 years.

Synagogue Thefts Are Under Probe

Theft of several religious articles, including a silver chalice, from Temple Emanuel, 50 Abel Street, was under investigation today by the detective division of the police department.

Also reported stolen were four silver and one wooden pointers, and a spice box. Police said the chalice, handmade and engraved, was taken from an altar desk. It was valued at $125, the report said.

Value Is Unknown

The value of the pointers, which hung by chains from Torahs over the altar, was unknown. A gift package had been ripped open and left in the office, police said, and other items there had been disturbed, but apparently nothing had been taken.

The theft was discovered by Gearin Matthews, custodian of the synagogue, when he arrived at the Temple yesterday at 7 a. m. Police said it was believed that the Temple had been entered some time between that hour and 10:30 p. m. Thursday.

Detectives said entry apparently was gained by removing a wooden grate from a cellar window on the Wurts Street side of the building and placing it against the wall of the cellarway, using the grate as a ladder. The cellarway roof is about six feet above ground level and scuff marks were discovered on the roof.

First Come, First Served!

The chilly night comes on. The Inn fills up with folks who think about themselves — and little more! And let all others shift as best they can. "First come, first served," they say. They sign up at the desk, grateful that they arrived before the rooms were gone. Why should they care if others are shut out? Why give a passing thought to needy folk who shiver on the cold side of the door? e'en though it may mean death? Should those who got here first give up their coziness to save a life or give a woman shelter? "The woman should have come in time to get the room she needs," they mutter to each other. "We have a rightful claim on shelter. We asked no special favors at the desk. We simply got here first; and paid our bill. We took our chances with the rest who seek out shelter; and, thanks to our Lucky Stars, we got a room. The biting wind will not reach us to-night. We can pull up the quilts and sleep the clock round; undisturbed by the need that comes too late. Who cares how great?

But wait! The frail, weak things that cannot hurry! Do they deserve no hearing? Must staggering needs still stand in line and rate no special treatment; while inns announce with heartless dignity! "Too late! First

CULINARY CHEMISTRY

Here is a lad whose zest for ice hockey, football, baseball, front-lawn wrestling and Tom Swift books marks him as normally boyish. And what is he up to at the moment? He is out in the kitchen, putting together an applesauce cake.

Time was when no red-blooded lad would have been caught at such a pursuit. Any boy who tried his hand at baking a cake would have been tagged as a sissy. This has changed—and not merely as a by-product of woman's emancipation.

Our theory is that the mixes which crowd grocery shelves have turned the trick. Years ago, boys knew by observation that both skill and elbow grease were essential ingredients in even the simplest cake. Being boys, they preferred to have these ingredients provided by someone else. But now any lad can turn out an edible cake with no more effort than that required for a simple chemistry experiment.

Whether or not this can be regarded as useful domestic training, it has its beneficial results. Even a boy with a zest for ice hockey, football, baseball and front-lawn wrestling can only eat so much applesauce cake. That leaves some for any adult who has been lurking about while the kitchen chemistry proceeded.

A DOME FOR A TOWN

Half a century ago a vision of London in 2,000 A.D. was presented by H. G. Wells, a seer with scientific training who became one of the foremost British novelists. One item in his story, "The Sleeper Awakes," depicted the world's largest city as completely protected from the weather by a glass roof.

Many of Wells' predictions have come true. Now there is talk of creating the world's first roofed-over town—not in England, but in northern Canada.

Less than 200 miles south of the Arctic Circle, on Baffin Island, is the flourishing town of Frobisher Bay. Architects are discussing the construction of a plastic dome, half a mile in diameter and 800 feet high. Under this the city might live, a green oasis in a bitterly cold land, secure against the weather.

This might cost 10 million dollars. Sheltered buildings, however, would not need to be as expensive as if they had to stand out in the open. Another favorable argument is that quite a bit of revenue might come from tourists eager to see the world's first domed city. It's a pity H. G. Wells won't be around to break a bottle of champagne on the dome.

A BIT MORE SAFETY

Automobile safety does not depend entirely on big campaigns and broad legislation. Certain minor changes in accepted practices pay safety dividends out of all proportion to their apparent significance.

One such change is the adoption of license plates covered or bordered with material that reflects headlights and makes the plates visible a long way off. Any state could require such plates and give motorists one more bit of protection.

But the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators reports that only seven states—Delaware, Louisiana, Maine, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Wyoming—have such a requirement. It is a point on which other state legislatures apparently need a little stimulation.

As they proceed with nuclear weapons tests, the Russians keep demanding a test ban. They want testing ended "for all time"—but not just yet.

A federal official says the Chinese people's latent goodwill toward this country will assert itself some day. The trouble is, it's getting mighty latent.

Nothing Takes Place of Newspapers

By ROBERT R. METZ
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — With one eye on the clock and another on the near-empty newsstand, the harried New York commuter snatched up the only paper available and asked the dealer: "How much?"

"I don't think you want that," the dealer answered, "that's a scratch sheet."
The commuter's mistake was understandable, for with nine newspapers closed by a deliverymen's strike for over a week, New Yorkers were reading anything that resembled their favorite daily—and quite a few things that didn't.

A fortunate few thousand were able to pick up copies of the three Philadelphia dailies which increased their distribution to key spots in the city. The famous "out-of-town" newsstand in Times Square did a rushing business in papers from Washington, Baltimore, Newark, Springfield, and Boston.

The National Enquirer, a New York weekly of somewhat unrestrained editorial content, added straight news and sports and published three times a week. The city's Spanish-language papers, El Diario and La Prensa, added a page of English news and increased their distribution by 20,000 and 10,000 respectively.

The major news magazines—Times, Newsweek, and U. S. News and World Report—sold out throughout the city.

The enterprising lads of the Harvard Crimson sent down 7,000 copies one day and gave them away in mid-town spots. And the Dallas News flew in 100 copies daily for prominent Texans in the city.

The NBC radio and TV stations in New York distributed 150,000 copies daily of a one-page news bulletin that attempted to summarize the day's top events. The New York Central handed out a mimeographed page to its commuters, but it was a rush job that was difficult to read.

All the radio and TV stations increased their news coverage by from 100 to 200 per cent, which kept the city aware of what was happening in the Berlin crisis—and how negotiations on the strike were going.

But in subways, buses and trains, most New Yorkers sat grim-faced and bored, seeing their neighbors for the first time in years, and missing very much the 5,500,000 newspapers that are distributed each day in the city.

What show or movie to see? What Christmas present to buy? What TV show to watch? These were some of the questions that went unanswered. One enterprising department store went after customers with printed sheets slapped on subway train windows reading:

"There may be no newspapers, but there still are bargains at S. Klein's."
Other retailers bought time on radio and TV stations—where time was available—to get their sales messages across. With the Christmas shopping season on, the buyers were in the stores, but without ads to guide them they didn't know where things were and what was on sale. Mail and telephone orders fell sharply.

The producers of a new play, "The Gazebo," which opened during the strike bought a half-hour of TV time and read the reviews that newspaper critics had written but were never printed. The big Broadway hits were not affected, since they are usually sold out months in advance. Movie houses turned to radio announcements.

TV stations stepped up their on-the-air promotion of their own shows. TV Guide was quickly sold out throughout the city.

Newspapers like The World-Telegram & Sun used radio announcements to keep their names in their readers' minds, and to remind them of what they were missing by missing their papers.

The New York Times, only paper with its own radio station, increased its news coverage using taped stories from correspondents overseas and in Washington and other U. S. cities. Working with NBC, the paper took part Sunday in an hour-long show seen in New York and Washington that summarized the mammoth Sunday Times.
WNEW, a leading independent station, invited nationally-known columnists like Bob Considine and Earl Wilson to read their columns. Other stations had announcers read the columns that never saw print in New York.

Just about the only group that benefited from the strike was the city's sanitation men. Without any newspapers, the trash-baskets of New York were a lot emptier.

Ruth Millett
Family Argument Can Signal Sturdy and Happy Marriage

James Thurber, who has the delightful knack of being able to make us laugh at ourselves, has come up with an article, "My Own Rules for a Happy Marriage," in Reader's Digest.

It is sure to get appreciative chuckles from both husbands and wives.

The rules are as sound as they are funny. But there is one rule for a happy marriage that Mr. Thurber neglected to mention: "Never be afraid to have a fight."

A good, fair, marital row now and then with no verbal punches pulled and no bitter pills sugar-coated is the best way in the world for a husband and wife to remain a devoted couple.

A good honest fight clears the air of resentments, gets plain truths out in the open, and lets a man and woman get an honest look at each other and at themselves.

It's the husband and wife who are afraid to do battle occasionally who snipe at each other in public and tell their troubles to anyone willing to listen.

The husbands and wives who aren't above taking little digs at each other in front of their friends and who air their frustrations to any listening ear are the husbands and wives who are too "civilized" to battle out their problems at home as they arise.

You can be pretty sure that the Smiths who aren't afraid to blow their tops will be living together until the end of their days.

But you'd better not make any bets on the Browns who are as polite to each other as strangers, and who have never stooped to a really good "Now-you-listen-to-me-for-a-minute" fist-pounding, door-banging, family argument.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — AFL-CIO President George Meany's New York speech threatening that the labor unions would form their own political third party is sized up as a bluff.

Even AFL-CIO headquarters here now says that the speech was played up out of proportion. It isn't denied that Meany uttered the sentiments attributed to him at New York's first merged state AFL-CIO convention.

The point is that Meany made much the same speech before the Industrial Union Department in Washington two years ago. It was reprinted in pamphlet form and is still being circulated as a statement of long-range union policy.

President Meany chose to remake parts of this speech at New York because the National Association of Manufacturers had just concluded a week-long meeting in which the unions were beaten over the head, hard.

POSTMASTER GENERAL Arthur E. Summerfield told the NAM that President Eisenhower would rather recommend to the next Congress new legislation to curb union dictators.

Labor Leader Meany decided to answer this with a fight talk of his own. Al Vack, head of AFL-CIO public relations, gives the opinion that since nearly all of New York's top labor reporters were out of town, the Meany speech wasn't recognized as a reissue of old stuff.

But what made it news was the fact that in April and October of this year, Mr. Meany had decided that the labor movement had no intentions to form a third party. What he was saying now looked like a contradiction or policy change.

First reaction among some Republican and business leaders was to the effect of, "Here they go. This is just what we've been warning you of — a political take-over."

THE GENERAL IDEA was that the union labor leaders were a little drunk on their November election successes.

In 33 gubernatorial races, unions endorsed 23 candidates and 17 of them won. In 34 U. S. Senate races, unions endorsed 32 candidates and 25 won. In House of Representatives contests, figures aren't so accurate. But 70 per cent of the candidates unions endorsed are said to have won.

In most cases, endorsement meant that union money was contributed to campaign funds, though candidates in tough races got more money than the shooiners.

In spite of all these successes, there is no real stomach or need for a labor party in the United States. Union leaders have discovered they can get what they want by indirect means. When they get directly involved in politics and assume responsibility or control, they get in trouble.

The CIO got taken for a hayride when its left-wing unions went all out for the Progressive party and Henry Wallace in 1948. That was the beginning of the end for CIO. It had to purge its leftists, then merge with AFL.

DESPITE ALL THAT has been said or written to the contrary, Walter Reuther is more opposed to formation of a labor party than most labor leaders. He was quick to repudiate Meany's speech threatening such action.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

Editor, The Freeman

On December 15, 1958, the Kingston Daily Freeman carried an article which described the efforts of Ulster Hose Fire Co. No. 5 related to the construction of an ice-skating rink for use by the residents and children of fire district No. 5 and the surrounding area. Upon reading this article, I was inspired by the example of civic minded generosity and heartfelt effort so cleverly shown by the members of this Ulster fire organization in undertaking this project — a project which will bring joy and appreciation to many.

It is often said of human nature, that sometimes we are too quick to criticize and too slow to recognize. Let this not be the case here. I respectfully request that you publish this letter in the "Freeman" as a token of appreciation to the members of Ulster Hose Fire Co. No. 5 for their continuing efforts in our community. Construction of a skating rink is but one of many civic projects in which this group has participated. An annual tour of Santa Claus for the children of the district, sponsorship of a baseball team in the "Little League," the promotion of Boy Scout Troop 10, Girl Scout and Cub Scout group activities are a few of the many other projects which the fire company has diligently undertaken.

I would like to take my hat off to this group of volunteers and extend to them a message of sincere gratitude. I am grateful to them, as firemen, for their tireless efforts in protecting the lives and property of our citizens from fire and the dangers of almost every type of emergency. I am also grateful to them, as a civic-minded organization, for their continuing efforts in community activities.

To the members of Ulster Hose Fire Co. No. 5, who have so tirelessly and generously worked to make our community a better place to live, I say congratulations and thank you.

Your truly,
TED MUSIALKIEWICZ

Oyster War May End Today Over Potomac Rights

MT. VERNON, Va. (AP)—The Potomac River oyster wars between Maryland and Virginia fishermen may end today.

They've feuded since colonial days over fishing rights. In recent years a number of their skirmishes have brought gunfire and wounding.

A new agreement will regulate fishing laws in the Potomac, a common boundary of the two states.

Maryland and Virginia negotiators chose Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington, as the site for their settlement because it was here in 1785 that the original compact between the states was formulated.

Details Not Known

Full details of the proposed new agreement have not been made known. The negotiators have said, however, they feel that a joint agency of the two states should handle administration of the Potomac's rich fishing resources.

Under the 1785 compact, Virginians were given equal fishing rights in the Potomac River, which Maryland owns to the low-water mark on the Virginia side. Virginians agreed to allow free passage of Maryland ships through the Virginia Capes. Fishing laws were to be enacted by the legislatures of the two states, with concurrence of both necessary for any change.

Troubles arose which led to patrolling of the river by state government boats. In the late 1940s Maryland patrol boats were armed with submachine guns.

Closing Is Voted

Both states voted as a conservation measure to close the river to dredging for oysters. Virginia took this action in 1930 and Maryland in 1931. Virginia again legalized power dredging of oysters three years later but Maryland insisted oysters must be taken with hand tongs. This touched off the oyster wars between fishermen of the two states and conservation officials patrolling the river.

Patrol boats, generally from Maryland, chased the oyster dredgers and frequently got into gunfights. At least one man was killed and an unknown number wounded in the last decade.

On Dec. 8, 1956, a Maryland tide-water fisheries airplane and two patrol boats, aided by a Virginia fisheries boat, pursued a suspected poacher into the Colonial Beach, Va., harbor in a blaze of gunfire. Townspeople, crowding the waterfront, were endangered by the shooting.

Both Complain

The governor of Virginia protested the "indiscriminate use of firearms" to the Governor of Maryland. The Maryland chief executive complained that Virginia shielded violators of Maryland law.

The Maryland Legislature angrily repealed the 1785 compact. Virginia went to the U. S. Supreme Court. Retired Justice Stanley F. Reed, named special master in the case, proposed an out-of-court agreement and both states selected commissions.

Today the commissions hope to come to a final agreement and sign a new compact. If their legislatures and the U. S. Congress approve it, Virginia will drop its Supreme Court suit to void Maryland's abrogation of the 173-year-old original agreement.

GE Says Lamps No More Hazard Than Plastic Tins

General Electric Co. has attempted to clarify an erroneous belief that its plastic-coated decorative lamps are an inflammable hazard.

In a statement issued through the Mohawk Sales District, with offices in Albany, L. H. Gasker of GE's Lamp Division, pointed out that the Christmas tree itself would usually ignite before the GE ornaments.

The confusion apparently arises from the fact that a plastic-coated Christmas light bulb made in Japan has been banned by fire officials in Kingston and Albany.

Gasker's statement: "We have conducted tests showing that the plastic coating on these lamps ('Lighted Ice') withstand temperatures much the same as other plastic ornaments, much the same as other plastic ornaments, such as plastic tinsel, customarily used on Christmas trees.

"The plastic will burn when ignited by external fire such as a cigarette lighter. However, the flammability of these lamps is not related to the fact that they are operated by electricity. "The heat produced by the lamp itself is only a small fraction of the temperature required to ignite the plastic coating."

The GE spokesman said surface temperature of the bulbs, when lighted, is about 110 degrees Fahrenheit. In the GE tests, he said, the plastic coating ignited at approximately 800 degrees Fahrenheit.

Gasker pointed out that "the temperature at which the tree itself will ignite will usually be far lower than the ignition temperature of many of its ornaments."

Lake Placid Club Sued for Jewel Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York City couple has filed suit in State Supreme Court seeking $6,275 from the Lake Placid Club for the theft of jewels valued at more than $6,000.

The theft became known yesterday after Irving and Ruth Bricker had filed the complaint claiming the club failed to post legally required notices regarding the safe-keeping of valuables.

They said they stayed at the club from Aug. 13 to 18. On Aug. 18, they asserted, the jewelry was stolen from their room "through the negligence of the defendant."

State police and the club's security officer investigated when the theft was reported August 22, but it was not publicized. Justice Isadore Bookstein, sitting in Albany, gave the club 20 days from last Thursday to make any legal moves.

Parents Fighting For Right to Sue In Death of Son

The divorced parents of a Hudson High School football player who died during a game with Catholic Central High School, Troy, last September 19, are fighting over who has the legal authority to bring a lawsuit against the two schools.

Each of the parents of Robert Lee Jones, 18, who were divorced some time ago, claim the right to sue. A lawsuit is pending against the two schools and Frank J. Hamblet, Hudson High School coach.

An application for limited letters of administration made by Betty Jones, Hudson, for the purpose of bringing an action, was returnable Friday before Columbia County Surrogate William F. Christiansa.

Objection to granting the application was filed by Willie James Jones of East Long Meadows, Mass., father of the player, on the ground he has a "prior right thereto." The proceeding adjourned until Tuesday due to absence of one of the attorneys.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were divorced some time ago. He was given custody of the boy. Mrs. Jones claims she had been bringing him up and that he resided with her in Hudson.

1,500 Pilots Go On Strike Against American Lines

CHICAGO (AP) — A strike by some 1,500 pilots today shut down American Airlines, grounding the second of the nation's major air carriers on the eve of the holiday travel rush.

The Air Line Pilots Assn. struck midnight Friday.

Poses Yule Handicap
Negotiations here broke down with an ALPA spokesman's statement that "it looks like a long, hard strike."

Stemming from an 18-month dispute, the strike posed a handicap for Christmas travelers.

Eastern Air Lines flight engineers and machinists walked out over wage demands Nov. 24 and that line has been tied up 26 days. In New York, a company spokesman said the pilots, one hour before the strike deadline, had renewed a demand for a 75-hour work month instead of an 85-hour work month for pilots on jet aircraft.

C. R. Smith, president of American, said in a statement: "No responsible air line could agree to the present demands of the Air Line Pilots Assn. The demands are arbitrary and unjustified. There is no good reason for a reduction in hours. At this time, some of the pilots are flying 10 days a month, with 20 days a month off, and it would be difficult to improve these working conditions."

The airline announced that all flights were cancelled through next Friday. A complete embargo was placed on all air freight and air express until further notice.

The company said it would keep open ticket and reservations offices to help passengers secure alternate travel arrangements.

An American Airlines spokesman said as much as one-third of the nation's daily air travel was affected by the walk-outs at AA and EAL. American has a daily passenger load of 24,000 and claims to be the biggest carrier.

Sees Long Tieup
A pilots union official said in Chicago that "the strike could go on for as long as six months."

He accused American of "extreme stubbornness," but an American spokesman termed the AA offer "the best in the industry."

Levert Edwards, chief mediator and chairman of the National Mediation Board, said: "I thought we had enough on the table to reach an agreement, but an impasse has been reached on working conditions. It does not look like a quick settlement will be effected."

Hit Working Conditions
The ALPA said American has offered a contract which equals the Eastern Air Lines settlement pact in money for both jet and piston engine operations.

However, the pilots said working conditions did not measure up to the Eastern contract.

The pilots contend the current American pay scale, ranging from $400 to $1,602 monthly, is lower than wages of other airlines. However, an American spokesman said top pay for pilots would jump from $1,602 monthly to $2,334 if the American offer was to be accepted.

In the EAL strike, the machinists have submitted a settlement to membership vote but the dispute between Eastern and engineers still is in mediation.

Santas Join Cows
BELLFLOWER, Calif. (AP)—A class of second graders at the Emily Taylor school wanted Christmas scenery in their room but it seemed a shame to take down their fine dairy cow mural.

They had painted a series of cows while studying the dairy industry. The children finally solved the problem. They drew in a series of Santa Clauses milking the cows.

Reports Wallet Lost
Anna Schoonmaker, of 204 Broadway, reported to police at 7:05 p. m. Friday that she had lost her black leather wallet containing a driver's license.

fidavit stating the club was "not negligent in any respect" and that it intended to oppose the action.

Kidd was injured when his car was in collision with a tractor trailer owned by Knaust Brothers Inc., of Catskill.

He was taken by Moylan's Ambulance to Kingston Hospital and later transferred to Albany.

State police of Kingston station said that a Knaust rig was proceeding south about three-tenths of a mile from Main Street in the Village of Rosendale, and about midway down the hill when the Kidd car, which was parked off the highway facing west, backed into the highway "in the path of the truck."

The truck struck the passenger car on the right side, badly damaging the passenger vehicle. Kidd was alone in his car. The truck rig was transporting mushroom flats to Rosendale at the time of the accident.

Kidd, a mechanic, was a member of Rifton Fire Company and the Methodist Church.

Surviving is his widow, Fannie Barringer Kidd; a daughter, Mrs. Irving (Audrey) Gardner; three brothers, Henry, Arthur and Harold Kidd, all of Kingston.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday from W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc. 296 Fair Street. Burial will be in St. Remy Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. Sunday and from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. Monday.

Machinists Wait For Engineers, Lines Agreement

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Striking Eastern Air Lines machinists voted Friday night on a new contract but kept the result secret pending the company's settlement with flight engineers.

Both unions stopped work Nov. 24 over wages and rules. The engineers also disputed a company proposal that they take basic pilot training to serve on jet airliners, expected to start operation in 1960.

Six air lines said "no show" reservations are hampering their efforts to take up the slack in Florida-bound traffic caused by the Eastern Air Lines strike.

A spokesman for Delta Air Lines said planes are carrying only an average 70 per cent of capacity because many travelers make multiple reservations for a seat. He said travelers who seek seats on a stand-by basis almost always get on board.

Delta and five other lines—Capital, Northeast, Northwest, Trans World, and National—predict a total inbound Florida passenger volume of 176,160 for December. Eastern claims it normally handles 177,000 passengers to Florida in December.

Negotiations between Eastern and the flight engineers are stalemated. A federal mediator is trying to get the sides to come to terms.

Satellite Soars

to be then?" Eisenhower joked back.

In View Tonight
The 85-foot Atlas was not expected to slip back into eview from the continental United States until this evening.

Roy Johnson, head of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency, figured it would be afternoon by the time Atlas soared within range of four Army tracking stations across the South. These stations have the code required to trigger Atlas' tape recorder.

Johnson said it will be decided by then whether to touch off Eisenhower's pre-launching recording a few more times or go to the next step—erase and send up another message for playback.

The plan was to send back the same message for further use until after Christmas. Hagerty said Eisenhower personally wrote it but declined to state whose idea it was to send a presidential statement aloft.

Circles Globe 14 Times
ARPA scientists indicated they wanted more precise information on Atlas' travels before they try a new recording. They hoped for solid 72-hour orbit data sometime today which will allow accurate predictions of the satellite's future path during its estimated 20-day life.

As of latest word the east-bound Atlas was rounding the globe every 101 minutes, 14.4 times a day, at heights from 114 to 928 miles.

One quick effect of Atlas on the international scene was to strengthen the West's hand in the coming showdown with Russia over the future of Berlin.

No Moscow Comment
Top U.S. officials expressed belief that the spectacular show of U.S. power in missiles would well have a sobering effect on Soviet Premier Khrushchev. They looked for a diplomatic, rather than a military, clash over the onetime German capital.

West European scientists saw the launching as a great stride toward man's first voyage into space. Newspapers there said the United States had forged ahead of the Russians. Moscow Radio broadcast the news without comment.

Police Trees Stolen
BOSTON (AP) — Police broadcast to all-points that their two Christmas trees had been stolen.

Headquarters said the trees vanished en route from a local florist shop. Neither the truck nor its driver could be found.

40 Ordained Today As Priests in Rome

ROME (AP)—Forty students of Rome's Pontifical North American College were ordained as priests of the Roman Catholic Church today in solemn ceremony.

They were ordained by the college's rector, Bishop Martin J. O'Connor of Scranton, Pa., in a 3½-hour service in the modernist college chapel on Janiculum Hill, overlooking St. Peter's Basilica.

Among those ordained was John F. Waldron, 52, of Frankfurt, N. Y.

May Boost Output Of Missiles Here For West Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy said today the Defense Department may boost production of Intermediate Range Ballistic Missiles if more Western European countries want them.

The department now has limited orders to production for eight IRBM squadrons. A squadron consists of 15 missiles.

McElroy told newsmen that Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO supreme commander, would like to see missiles sent to countries in addition to Britain, which has accepted them, and Italy, which is negotiating.

McElroy talked with newsmen who met him as he stepped from an airplane on his return from the Paris NATO conference.

In the case of Italy, he said, he thinks we are "very close to a favorable decision" but that no formal papers have been signed.

To another question, McElroy said he believes the available stockpile of atomic weapons is "adequate overseas."

The defense secretary said Norstad favors placement of several IRBM squadrons in Western Europe. The places where they would be needed is for Norstad to decide, but acceptance by individual NATO countries is up to them.

The defense chief's comments today seemed to brighten the outlook for IRBMs. Earlier this fall McElroy had raised questions about the future of the 1,500-mile range IRBMs.

Atlas Shot

compare with only 1,238,710 produced in the first three months of 1958.

The steel output gained speed this week. Production was the highest in more than a year.

Freight car orders in November totaled 6,295, largest volume of new business booked by rail equipment makers since early 1957.

Housing starts in November, on a seasonally adjusted basis, were the highest for any month since June 1955.

Prospects for the electrical manufacturing industry grew brighter. Ralph J. Cordiner, chairman of General Electric Co., said GE's sales are continuing the upturn that began in recent months. Earnings for 1958, he said, should be second only to the record high of 1957.

Your income, if it followed the national average, was higher in November than at any time before. But it wouldn't buy as much as in 1957.

That's the story told by the U.S. Commerce Department's report on personal income of Americans last month. Income hit a record yearly pace of 360 billion dollars up 2½ billions from the month before and up 5 billions from November 1957. But, said the Commerce Department, price increases during the past 12 months more than offset the income gain.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Often It Takes More Than 'Serious Little Discussion'

The TV psychologist had received a letter from a viewer. In effect it asked, "What can I do about my mother-in-law? She's always picking on me before my children. This is encouraging them to question everything I say so that I get arguments from them constantly. . . ."

The TV psychologist started broadcasting her reply. In her studio complicated machinery began turning her words into wave patterns which other complicated machinery in our TV sets promptly changed back into words.

The answer resulting from all this electronic activity was this: "Why don't you have a serious little talk with your mother-in-law, pointing out what her picking on you is doing to your parental authority?"

It seemed to me a waste of the electronic activity. People who want to undermine our parental authority are seldom deflected from their purpose by "serious little talks." Since their need to display their superiority to us is stronger than their reason, their ears are closed to reasonable words.

So if we're obliged to maintain contact with such people, our solution is not asking them to stop criticizing us but changing our own response to their criticism. When our mother-in-law finds fault with the way we're preparing baby's vegetables or dealing with Tommy's defiance, what is it in us that finds her fault-finding disturbing?

Isn't it our expectations of faultless performance from ourselves? Of course it is. If we didn't feel we should be able to provide perfect meals for baby and always ready with the exact answer to Tommy's defiance, our methods are faulty wouldn't disturb us.

It certainly isn't pleasant to have this critical lady around—but the thing that makes her intolerable is our own secret need to appear always perfectly right. Once we dissolve this need, criticism's power to secure us dissolves with it. To the mother-in-law who's just criticized us, we just say cheerfully, "Look here, Mother So-and-So, I do things wrong as often as I do them right. Perhaps more often. I'm used to it—and it's high time you started getting used to it, too."

Girl Scout News

The Camp Wendy development fund got off to an auspicious start with a benefit performance by the dancers of Patti's Studio in New Paltz recently. More than 250 persons enjoyed a program of dancing, fairies, toys, Christmas packages, skaters and nursery rhyme characters.

Mrs. Calvin Wygant Sr., of Marlboro, during the intermission, explained the master plan for the expansion of Camp Wendy. Mrs. Wygant, who is the president of Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc., said that in 1950 the camp had 500 girls attending; that this past summer the camp reached an all-time peak of 2,100 registered campers. Many of the buildings now used at Camp Wendy, she said, were constructed 35 years ago and were expected to last only a couple of years.

Mrs. Wygant stressed that all reconstruction will be as economical as possible and that there will be no frills. The Camp Wendy development plan calls for the expenditure of more than $100,000. The first donation was $2,000 from IBM in Kingston. The first work to be done under the master plan will be the installation of a new water system to increase the supply to meet the demands of the growing camp population.

Miss Helen Hasbrouck of New Paltz, a long and active volunteer worker in the Girl Scouts, received high praise from Mrs. Wygant for her tireless devotion to the Girl Scouts and to Camp Wendy.

Mrs. David Lent, New Paltz neighborhood Girl Scout chairman, introduced Mrs. Wygant, Miss Eunice Thomson, Girl Scout executive director and Mrs. Jerry Blair, Girl Scout Field director.

Charles Moehrk, active in Scouting was master of ceremonies. He assisted Mrs. Roy Upright, pianist.

Mrs. Rexford Schneider of New Paltz, was general chairman of the ticket sale and promotion, assisted by Mrs. Michael Brennan, and Mrs. John Shelby, Troop 35 under the direction of Mrs. Randolph Siegel, leader, decorated the large Christmas tree on stage.

Convert Blinds Into Awnings

Old wooden venetian blinds are ideal for making your own window awnings. The old blinds, a few pieces of lumber, and the power tools of your home workshop will save you many dollars in awning expense.

Cutting the venetian blind slats and other lumber to the required size is done simply with a jig saw. Such portable saws are versatile power tools that do a variety of cutting jobs.

Begin with two triangular frameworks braced with centerpieces the width you wish to make the awning. Then reinforce the corners with angle pieces, cut the slats the proper length, and cover.

Brush Your Varnish In Three Directions

When varnishing a floor, brush with the grain of the wood, covering about 4 or 5 boards for a distance of about 4 feet. Then without refilling the brush, cross off the surface to catch any places you may have missed. After that, scrape the brush over the edge of the can and lightly straighten out the surface, brushing lengthwise again. This brushing in three directions spreads the varnish to a uniform full film without danger of runs. The best brush to use is one two inches wide. Keep your brush full to prevent running or sagging.

ranch house. Following the trend to more compact design, this house offers just five rooms, three of which are bedrooms. Yet there is ample room for good living here.

The "Gilbert" is this week's selection of the Home of the Week Plan Service.

As a glance at the photograph will show, the design has been kept extremely simple. But the house avoids an "ordinary" look by the clever use of a projection. The only touch toward ornateness, if it can be called that, is the black iron railings, and the staggered windows in the substantial front door.

Traditional Ranch Lines

Two-pane windows in the main part of the house help follow up the long, low look of the traditional ranch lines.

One advantage of the low, one-story style is very apparent here: how easy it would be for the man of the house to paint it. And in these days of high labor costs, the saving would be very substantial.

Obviously, a great deal of thought was given to the floor plan of the house. Convenience is noticeable when you discover there are eight closets spread strategically throughout.

House Is Divided

The house is divided into its component areas of sleeping, living and kitchen-dining as well as any can be. While you enter the living room from the front door, a hallway sets it apart from the rest of the house.

The entrance is recessed for protection from the weather, and a closet facing the door makes it easier to keep the house clean and dry. Two large windows on the side and a 3-panel picture window in front insure plenty of cheer and light.

Convenient Entryway

One of the features any housewife will praise is the side door with an entryway both to the basement and kitchen. Traffic to and from the cellar can be carried on without entering the house at all.

In the kitchen, appliances and sink are neatly arranged for quick food handling with a minimum of steps. There are plenty of cabinets for storage of dishes and food, and a counter, a blessing in any kitchen, extends to the center of the room.

All three bedrooms are the same size, eleven feet six inches by twelve feet. Each has a spacious closet and is only a step away from the bathroom. There are two linen closets—one in the hall and a good-sized one in the bathroom.

Traffic Doesn't Bother

All traffic passes at a distance from the sleeping area, maintaining the quiet which children and grown-ups both need and appreciate.

While no garage has been included here, one could be added very easily. Or, as so many people are finding out today, a carport is a fine substitute. The driveway is just extended farther to make a solid footing for the car to rest on.

The plan of the "Gilbert" is acceptable to both VA and FHA.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans for this home or any home in this series available at Home of the Week, Inc., 87 Wybosset Street, Providence, R. I.

Kitchen Requires An Electric Tool

The housewife who wants to cut cooking time and save fuel costs will find an electric power tool a welcome addition in the kitchen.

A wire scratch brush attachment on either an electric drill or an electric polisher quickly cleans away those burned-on deposits that coat the bottoms of pots and pans.

The cleaning should be done in the basement or outside, of course, to avoid dirtying the house with flying particles.

Removing these "insulating" deposits restores range utensils to their original cooking efficiency and lessens the time needed for cooking and frying.

Textured Paint Helpful

There are special paints for brick, concrete block and other masonry materials but they must be properly used for best results. The undercoat is important. It must remain unaffected by lime—which is present in concrete, stucco and mortar—and it must have covering power. Use either a cement-water paint or oil paint for the undercoat.

Insulation for Attics

Mineral wool insulation in "pouring wool" form can be used by home owners who want to insulate an attic floor themselves. Pouring wool comes in paper bags that are light and easy to handle. The mineral wool is simply poured out of the bags into spaces between the attic floor joists and smoothed to an even depth of at least four inches.

Never Frozen

When wood siding is used, says a lumber association, the house exterior design is never frozen. Whenever the spirit moves you, the entire complexion of the house can be changed simply by adding a fresh color of paint.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director Veterans' Service Agency, and Charles L. Culver, state veterans counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, submit another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and other dependents.

Armed Forces—The U. S. Department of Labor Employees' Compensation Appeals Board ruled that survivors of reservists who received benefits under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act are entitled to both the six-month death gratuity payment granted by the Department of Defense and the death benefits paid under the FECA. This ruling puts widows, orphans and other survivors of reservists who died while on active duty in line for individual lump sum payments of up to $3,150. This represents monies which were due survivors under the FECA but were not paid by the Federal Bureau of Employees' Compensation pending a ruling by the Compensation Appeals Board as to whether survivors were entitled to both the FECA benefit and the Defense Department's six-month gratuity payment at the same time. The board held that the six-month military pay was a gratuity and had no bearing on FECA benefits. The amount each survivor may expect to receive will depend upon the rank of the deceased reservist. Most of the payments will be made to widows, orphans and other survivors of veterans who died during the Korean emergency.

Compensation—The compensation claims of certain severely disabled service-connected veterans are being reconsidered automatically by the VA under the provisions of Public Law 85-782. This is recently enacted Federal legislation which increases by $50 a month the compensation paid to severely disabled veterans who require an aid or attendant while they are not hospitalized at Government expense. Severely disabled veterans may expect to receive a determination from the VA as to whether or not they meet the minimum requirements for the applications of this law to their particular condition.

New Laws—Applications, complete information and premium rates are now available locally in connection with adding a Total Disability Income Provision to National Service Life Insurance policies which would pay policyholders $10 a month per $1,000 of insurance held while they are totally disabled. This new insurance benefit, provided by Public Law 85-678, became effective November 1, 1958, and is available to all qualified NSLI policyholders. Those with an existing five dollars a month TDIP per $1,000 of insurance held may surrender this disability provision and replace it with the new benefit upon meeting the requirements. Additional premiums for the ten dollar monthly TDIP are payable in the same manner and at the same time as premiums on the term, life or endowment insurance policies to which it is attached.

Legislation—Advance information is being received as to legislation concerning veterans which will be introduced in the 86th Congress which convenes on January 7, 1959. It is expected that Congress will be asked for authority to raise the present interest rate on F. I. home and farm loans from its present level of 4 1/2 per cent. Other legislation expected to be introduced in the new Congress include an extension of G. I. bill educational benefits to post-Korean veterans, increased pension benefits for needy veterans, expansion of the veterans' direct loan program, revision of the VA rules on forfeiture of benefits, and the establishment of a special court to review claims of veterans which have been denied by the VA.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency located at 32 Main Street, Kingston.

Floor Modernizing

Prefinished oak flooring is favored in home modernization by many families because it permits a room to be re-floored and put back in service the same day.

PEEKING INTO SPANISH TOWN—Moorish-type architecture of entranceway to Toledo, Spain, building provides keyhole view of nearby construction.

Insulation Produced From Molten Minerals

Mineral wool insulation is made from three principal materials: rock, glass, or slag.

In the manufacturing process, one or more of these raw materials is mixed with a coke and heated to a molten state. Jets of steam blow the molten mass into millions of fibers.

The fibers fall naturally into a thick, interwoven mass containing millions of tiny dead-air spaces. These dead-air spaces provide an efficient barrier to heat transmission.

Measure Carefully In Making Coverlet

If you are making a separate coverlet style bedspread, measure from the top of the bed to a point down the sides and foot where the drop should end. Allow at least three inches more than actual depth of the mattress. A separate skirt or dust ruffle should be measured from the top of the box spring to the floor, also allowing for hem.

Bathroom Tie-Ups

You can eliminate many "traffic jams" outside your bathroom simply by adding another lavatory, says Today's Home magazine. "In families with more than one child," it says, "two lavatories in the bathroom instead of one mean fewer meal-time washup squabbles and no jam-ups at the approach of school hour. In the case of working couples, it permits simultaneous reading for morning departure. That extra $100 fixture often means getting by without an entire additional $1,500 bathroom."

Just Don't Despair

What to do about those unfortunate scratches on your fine furniture! Do not despair! Take equal parts of boiled linseed oil, turpentine and white vinegar, stir well. Apply with a soft woolen cloth and polish. If a beverage glass has left a tell-tale white mark, you can remove it

Post-and-Beam Construction Helps Cut Cost

Post-and-beam construction saves money on the addition of a room, porch, garage or carport to a house because it eliminates the cost of 2x4 supports and the labor of installing them.

In post-and-beam construction the weight of the roof and walls is supported by beams held up by 4x4 or 4x6 posts. A further savings is achieved with economical truss roof construction.

This gabled roof can be roofed with asphalt shingles which are economical yet offer the advantages of color, dependability, and long-lasting protection.

A gabled roof is preferred for additions to houses whose main roof is gabled. This avoids an "added-on" appearance.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eftrem Zimbalist Jr. is a TV star in a dilemma: He doesn't want a flop, but he doesn't want a hit either. Zimbalist is the suave private eye who matches wits with Hollywood's underworld on 77 Sunset Strip for ABC Friday nights. The son of the famed musician is also making a name for himself in theatrical films; he scored as Jean Simmons' sympathetic friend in "Home Before Dark."

Too Long Too Much

"I think it's good for me to be doing a TV series now that film production is so low," said the Warner Brothers player. "If I didn't have this, I'd be off salary. "Naturally, I hope the series is a success. But the thought of my being in it for five to seven years frightens me. I think I'd shoot myself first."

It looks as though he may be in for trouble. Because "77" has been doing very well in the ratings these Friday nights, and the sponsors seem content. Zimbalist could be in for a long run.

When I saw him between scenes, he was wolfing down a sandwich, which comprised his lunch.

Can't Get Ahead

"We've been working steadily since the season began," he explained, "and we're still not ahead. We couldn't get any back-log. Sponsor money was tight this year, so we didn't know if we were sold until the last moment. And Warners wasn't willing to shoot more than the pilot until the sale was made."

The studio pulled the wily stunt of making the first show 90 minutes long. Thus, if it didn't sell for TV, it could be sold to theaters. TV claimed it first, and the show won much attention for the novel opener.

Early Census

An early census in 1660 revealed that New Mexico had 24,000 inhabitants — 1,000 Spaniards and 23,000 Pueblo Indians. There also were plenty of Navajo and Apache Indians, but they were not included in the census because they would not slow down long enough to be counted.

Indians Submit New Brief Against Taking of Land

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Tuscarora Indians have submitted to the Federal Power Commission a new brief protesting against taking of their land in New York State for the Niagara power project.

The brief, submitted Friday, and one to be submitted by the New York State Power Authority will be the basis for oral argument before the FPC Jan. 2.

The FPC has been told by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals to determine if taking of 1,383 acres of Indian land by New York State would violate the rights of the Indians.

In the brief submitted Friday, the Indians claim that taking of the land would interfere with the original purpose for which the reservation was established.

The brief said treaties signed in the late 1700s "created homelands for the Six Nations, including the Tuscarora Nation, which were to be permanent and inalienable until the Indians voluntarily agreed to sell."

The authority has offered the Indians $1,100 an acre and other benefits.

Talks Resume Today In Plate Strike

CINCINNATI (AP) — Negotiators make another stab at reaching agreement in the long Pittsburgh Plate Glass strike today.

A series of individual sessions on each of 11 plants involved, plus another general session, kept delegates from company and the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union at the bargaining table Friday until early evening.

Talks were shifted here after sessions failed in three other cities. The walkout began Oct. 6.

Wages are not an issue; the chief dispute is reported to be proposals to change classifications for workers and cut down the size of work crews.

Use Right Materials

Before you start that long-awaited painting job on the outside features of your home, remember there is a paint specially made for the purpose. However, for the finish coats on a fence you can use regular house paint. First of course, you will take the precaution to apply a special preservative to retard rotting of the wood, especially that which is placed below ground. You can paint over the preservative to match the color scheme of your house.

Queen Discard Seals Big Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Here is another interesting hand from Milton Unger of New York. Apparently he was not going to be criticized for missing a grand slam and his redoubt of the seven diamond contract was sheer audacity.

West opened the king of clubs and Milton decided that the double was based on great length in clubs and that he would have to look to the heart suit of he wanted to bring home the hand. Of course, if his trumps had been all high he could have gone the cross ruff route, but he missed the ten and eight.

Milton also noticed that entries to dummy might be a problem and manufactured one by discarding the queen of spades on his club ace. He cashed the ace of hearts; led a spade to the king; ruffed a heart; trumped his ace of spades in dummy; led another heart and ruffed it high.

Since the king of hearts dropped on this trick he was able to draw trumps and make the slam.

The discard of the queen of

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

This is taken from "Book of the Artists" by Henry T. Tuckerman, 1867. It was loaned to me by the Office of the Architect of the Capitol, Washington, D. C., and has to be returned. It reads in part: "Kingston, the capitol of Ulster County, N. Y., is in date of settlement by the Dutch, but a few years later than Albany; and in a dwelling of the town still designated as the first Constitution of the State of New York was framed and adopted."

"Although destroyed by the British in 1777, the local situation of Kingston has secured it more than average prosperity; on the right bank of the Hudson, 90 miles from the metropolis and 50 from the capital, its vicinity to the terminus of the Delaware and Hudson Canal, its intersection of Esopus Creek, and the plank-road which connects it with Rondout, have drawn thither the most extensive commerce on the river; its trade with Delaware County is thriving, and it has a flourishing manufacturing of flagstones."

"Here John Vanderlyn was born in 1776, and here, impoverished, worn out, and ill, he returned to die in the autumn of 1852. The intervening years were fraught with the greatest vicissitudes, crowned with success, and overshadowed by disappointment—full of adventure, rich in social experience, active with artistic enterprise—embittered by controversy, and conflict with fortune; through, and often above which experiences, the man and the artist, in all their individuality, rise intact."

"The apparently accidental circumstances, which, if they do not determine, essentially modify individual destiny, are singularly manifest in American artist life. An incident often related with graphic emphasis, in the familiar talk of a famous political adventurer and a successful artist, seems to have been the turning-point in Vanderlyn's life. A country boy in Ulster County, he engaged to work for six months for a blacksmith near Kingston. One morning Aaron Burr's horse cast a shoe, and he stopped at the forge to have it replaced. Walking about in the vicinity, he was struck with the spirit and truth of a charcoal sketch on a barn door, turning to young Vanderlyn who stood by, he inquired who was the draftsman. 'I did it,' was the reply. Whereupon Colonel Burr questioned him at length, and recognizing his ability for a higher sphere of activity than the humble occupation he had adopted, gave him his town address, and advised him to assist him if he should decide to study and practice art. 'Put a clean shirt in your pocket, come to New York, and call upon me.'

History, of course, tells us that Vanderlyn did get a clean shirt and came to Richmond Hill to see Burr and Burr took him in his own home to become his protégé. In time Burr went to Paris, France, as an exile from his country, while Vanderlyn rose as an artist to receive a medal from Napoleon. Each author describes this friendship and Vanderlyn's artist life differently so will quote more from Henry T. Tuckerman's (1867) article in another column.

Two Legislators Oppose Closing of Scotia Navy Depot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob Javits and Rep. Bernard W. Kearney, New York Republicans, are opposed to the Navy's plan to close the supply depot at Scotia, near Schenectady, N. Y. Javits and Kearney said Friday they would ask the Armed Services Committees of the House and Senate to stop the Navy move. The Navy's plans are subject to approval of the committees.

Sen.-elect Kenneth B. Keating, also a Republican, said he had conferred with White House officials about the proposed closing. He said that although he could not oppose a sound economy measure there was the consideration whether the closings affected a labor-distress area.

"At least two of the New York installations which are being reduced or eliminated are in labor distress areas—Scotia and Niagara Falls," Keating said.

The Navy said Thursday it would close the Scotia depot by Dec. 31, 1959, eliminating 675 jobs. The naval air station at Niagara Falls is to be closed June 30, 1959, releasing 56 civilians. Other New York establishments affected are in Brooklyn and Port Washington. Keating said the White House had informed him that, although the Scotia depot would be discontinued, one or two of its activities might be maintained, supplying jobs for approximately 210 men.

Gov. Harriman also protested. In a telegram to Wilfred J. McNeill, assistant defense secretary, the Democratic governor asked for reconsideration and urged that "all possible be done to preserve the jobs of this large group of employees."

Arctic Air Hits Mid-Continent, Mercury Tumbles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A freezing mass of air swept through the mid-continent today.

The Arctic air surge was to dominate autumn's final weekend. It tumbled temperatures below zero from the Northern Plains to the Ohio Valley.

International Falls, Minn., reported -20 and Pellston, Mich., -25. For Pellston at the northern tip of Michigan, this reading represented more than a 50 degree drop in 24 hours.

It was much colder north of a line from northern New England to northern Texas. Along the advancing edge of the cold air thrust, some light rain changed to snow flurries as the mercury skidded. Snow flurries were expected from the Dakotas to New England.

Marked warming was widespread in the Southeast during the overnight as southwesterly winds boosted mercury levels into the 40s and 50s, contrasting to the 20s and 30s late Thursday night.

The weather bureau forecast generally fair skies for the Southwest and the central and southern Rockies.

Control Coast Blaze

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP) — Fire-fighters today held control over California's worst brush blaze of the year. They succeeded after six days of battling.

The fire burned 66,300 acres of brush and timber in three southern California counties, destroyed 17 homes and cabins and killed a ranger.

The fire is still burning in some areas, but is no longer advancing. Forest Service officials said the fire started from an incendiary bullet fired in target practice by Jerry Stewart, 21, on his father's ranch. He will be arraigned Monday on a misdemeanor charge.

Knew of Launching

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy knew of plans for launching the Atlas satellite but learned the feat had been accomplished through The Associated Press.

Returning today from the NATO meetings in Paris, he was asked by newsmen if he was among the comparatively few who were in on the well kept satellite secret.

He said he was.

How did he first learn of the successful launching?

"I heard it from The Associated Press," he replied.

Parents Urged To Check Cycles Children Ride

The Mayor's Committee on Traffic Safety is urging parents to be sure children's bicycles are properly equipped to help prevent accidents.

Frank Adams, publicity representative of the group, said that bicycles should have—

A headlight and tail reflector. Good set of tires. Good brakes.

A good steering bar. The light and reflector are a must if the bicycle is ridden at night, Adams said.

"Help save lives," he added. "If the equipment named is on bicycles, and in good order, it will prevent mishaps and a lot of suffering."

Handcuffs Real, Mom Calls Cops

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Barbara Goldfarb, wife of Wayne County Asst. Prosecutor Albert A. Goldfarb, was on the telephone Friday while her 5-year-old son, Brian, played with a pair of toy handcuffs.

She paid little heed when the youngster cuffed her wrist together. He'd been going around arresting people all day.

But when the conversation ended, Mrs. Goldfarb got a surprise. Brian had locked her into a set of real handcuffs—old ones her husband had been given a long time ago.

There was no key. The prosecutor wasn't home. Mrs. Goldfarb called police.

Two officers finally picked the lock with pliers, a paper clip and a hairpin.

U. S. Davis Cup Aces Gets Wins

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Hamilton Richardson and Alex Olmedo chopped down Italians Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola, 7-6, 4-1, 13-11, 7-5 today to set the stage for the 15th consecutive United States-Australia Davis Cup Challenge Round.

The doubles victory over the Italians gave the U.S. team a 3-0 lead over Italy in the best-of-5 interzone final and makes Sunday's final two singles matches mere formalities.

In fact, American Captain Perry Jones indicated he would substitute Barry MacKay and Earl Buchholz for Richardson and Olmedo. He said he wanted to send Richardson and Olmedo—who now appear to have clinched the Challenge Round assignments—to Brisbane.

The Challenge Round is scheduled for Brisbane next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

He could swing a deal that would net him a lot of money. The new owner would permit him to continue running the pro football club for at least a decade.

Marshall didn't say how much money he'd want, but it probably would take a seven figure sum to buy his 69 per cent interest. He has controlled the club since it entered the National Football League in 1932, first at Boston and later in a franchise switch here.

Marshall told Newsweek Friday that more than 20 persons have asked about buying the team over the years.

CAN'T GIVE UP—They pay a National Hockey League goalie to block shots any way he can. So when Toronto's Johnny Bower lost his stick during a save against the Boston Bruins he bounced up and waited for any rebound shots ready to make a catch with his gloves. Just like Yogi Berra.

Cornell Cagers Are Unbeaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cornell won its fourth straight basketball game Friday night when the Big Red staved off a resurgent Syracuse quintet, 77-74, in a highlight of Upstate action.

Jay Harris, a junior from Valley Stream, led Cornell with 20 points, as the Orange suffered their second loss in five outings. Syracuse's Jon Cincibach took scoring honors with 23 points.

Bucknell won its 500th game in 63 years of basketball by manhandling Colgate, 90-60 at Lewisburg, Pa.

It was Bucknell's fourth triumph of the season against a single loss. Colgate now is 3-3.

The University of Niagara kept its unmarred season alive at Kent State by squeaking past the Ohioans, 72-71. The victory was Niagara's fifth.

At Burlington, Vt., LeMoyne whipped Assumption, 75-61, for third place in the St. Michael's College annual Christmas Tournament.

Rensselaer Poly took a heart-stopper from Clarkson, 48-46, in Troy. The lead changed hands twice in the closing minutes until Clarkson's Bob Scopinich scored on a slashing drive-in that put the visitors ahead to stay with less than two minutes in the game.

In other action involving Upstate teams, it was Oswego 77, New Paltz 54; Baldwin-Wallace 78, Buffalo State 76 in overtime, and Upsala 83, Alfred 76.

Fourth Quarter Rally Decides Tight Contest

A blistering fourth quarter rally carried Wallkill to a 54-46 decision over Rondout Valley at Kerhonkson last night in a pulsating UCAL game. It was a tough loss for Chick Meehan's cagers, who looked like winners going into the final eight minutes of the game.

Rondout had a 41-33 lead after three quarters, thanks to a snappy third period in which the Kerhonkson club outscored the visitors, 18-8. The margin disappeared early in the final period as Wallkill, led by Henry Hecht, Gene Bilbao and Pat Melville unleashed the closing spurt.

Hecht (16), Gene Bilbao (11) and Melville (10) were top point getters for Ernie Thompson's club. Vic D'Alessio and Keith Johnson had 11 markers each and Tom Chiappetta had 10 for the losers.

Wallkill won the jayvee contest, 58-31, as high scoring Ken Rumsey made 21 points.

Iowa Gridders Have Trouble

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—May be California's football team can't stop Iowa but California's smog can.

Coach Forest Evashevski cut short the second of two heavy workouts Friday when some of his Hawkeyes complained the thick smog blanketing the field was too much for them.

The boys from the Midwest found it hard to catch their breath when they gulped in lungfuls of the smog-tainted air. Even if the air had been crystal clear, however, they would have been out of breath. For Evashevski drove them hard in both workouts.

The Big Ten champs, who face California in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day, are making up for time lost because of inclement weather at home after their regular season closed.

Syracuse Holds Secret Practice

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Syracuse went behind closed gates today for its first full-dress scrimmage since setting up North Carolina training quarters for its Orange Bowl date with Oklahoma.

At least one, and possibly three, players were out of the afternoon session in Riddick Stadium on the North Carolina State College campus.

End Mike Neary came down with tonsillitis late this week, and was out of the picture. Fullback Ed Keiffer and reserve guard Gee Grabosky, both nursing muscle strains, were expected to see only limited action, if any, in the controlled scrimmage.

After three days of fair weather, Coach Ben Schwartzwalder said Friday he felt his squad was making progress. He has put the boys through morning and afternoon drills, gradually stepping up the pace. Training here will continue through Dec. 27, with the Orangemen to depart for Florida on Dec. 28.

Something Has Got to Give As Giants, Browns Collide

Upstate Hockey Teams Score Clean Sweep

Upstate hockey teams made a clean sweep Friday night as Rensselaer Poly blanked Colby, 4-0, while Clarkson ripped Boston College, 6-2.

At Troy, the Engineers' Paul Midghall, the East's leading scorer, opened the scoring at 31 seconds of the first period. He was later credited with an assist, boosting his season total to nine goals and 15 assists.

Boston College was handed its first defeat of the season in seven games, when Clarkson struck for four goals in the final period and broke a 2-2 deadlock. Ray Baker paced the winners with a 3-goal hat trick during the Clarkson upsurge at Newton, Mass.

NEW YORK (AP) — For the third and positively last time, the Cleveland Browns and New York Giants meet Sunday for the Eastern Conference title of the National Football League.

Beating Cleveland once a year is more than most clubs can handle. The Giants already have done it twice despite the tremendous power running of Jimmy Brown. Now they must do it a third time — or else.

Yankee Stadium will be bulging with a sellout crowd of 72,000 to watch the league's best defense again collide with Brown, the best ground gainer in league history.

Only the weatherman can spoil the party and he promises to be on his good behavior. Good, that is, compared with last Sunday when snow turned the Stadium into a Christmas card setting. They say it will be clear and cold with the highest thermometer reading around 24 degrees. The field is in fairly good shape. The only tickets left are the 12,000 bleacher seats and 3,000 standing room positions that go on sale Sunday morning at the Stadium.

Television (CBS) will carry the game to all corners of the nation except for a blackout of the New York area. Game time is 2 p.m. (EST).

Winner to Face Colts

The winner goes into the rich championship playoff, Dec. 28, against the Baltimore Colts. As that game will be played in a big ball park, either New York or Cleveland, and the players get 70 per cent of the gate, including the $200,000 TV money, a winning share should be over $4,500.

The Giants' sturdy defensive unit is hale and hearty, ready to take another shot at stopping the fabulous Mr. Brown. But the offensive unit is crippled.

Alex Webster, the club's leading pass catcher and runner in last Sunday's 13-10 victory, didn't even work out Friday. Both knees are damaged, but he probably will be in there as long as he can hobble. Jack Stroud, a regular tackle, didn't play last week and isn't due to start. Al Barry, a regular guard, has an infected toe, but probably will play. Buzz Guy, a handyman guard or tackle, is out with a chipped bone in his ankle. To cap it all Pat Summerall, whose 49-yard field goal beat the Browns last Sunday, has been bothered all week by a leg injury.

Chuck Conerly's passing beat the Browns in Cleveland Nov. 2 when he threw for three touchdowns in a 21-7 game. It probably will be Conerly chucking again as the main threat of the Giants' offense.

Cleveland's bread and butter game all season has been Brown's strong running and the field goals of Lou Groza. Milt Plum passes only enough to take the pressure off Brown, although he has a talented receiver in Ray Renfro. Coach Paul Brown has indicated he may do more throwing this week.

Sudden Death

If the score is tied after regulation time, they will keep going to a sudden death ending. The first team to score a point will win. Because of this factor, the books are quoting no points this week. In man-to-man betting the Giants are 11-10 favorites.

Bridge City Slates Tourney

Poughkeepsie's Recreation Commission will sponsor the city's annual Holiday Basketball tournament this season and Dick Whitesell of the Commission staff said there are openings for three teams. Anyone desiring to enter the tourney may contact Whitesell Monday at GR 1-1000, Extension 25.

The tourney was formerly conducted at Lincoln center but this year teams will play at the new Poughkeepsie High school gym.

Saugerties To Open New Gym Tonight

A spanking new, 84 by 50 foot gym will be in use for the first time tonight, when Saugerties High school cagers play host to Roosevelt in an important Dutchess County Scholastic league basketball game. It will mark the first home appearance for the Sawyers, as the gymnasium, under construction for the past year, will be officially opened.

The new court is one of the most modern in the area. It features seating for 960 spectators and has glass backboards as well as dual scoreboards. That means that a player or a fan can see the score and time left to play at either end of the court without turning around. Most gyms have the scoreboard at only one end of the floor.

A new feature is a special tower, above the floor and away from the spectators, for the scorers and timers. This is expected to take away much of the confusion a crowd might cause during a close game. The towers are constructed along the same lines as a projection booth at a movie.

The seats are folding bleachers and the floor is big enough so that with a partition in the middle, two good sized gym classes can be held at the same time. The lighting is excellent.

I and O A. Slutsky, Hunter, New York, did the construction work. Architect was Sergeant Webster, Crenshaw and Foley of Syracuse.

The gymnasium formerly used by Saugerties teams is now part of the elementary school system and is being used by students in the elementary schools.

The jayvee contest will start at 7 p.m. Saturday and the varsity game will follow immediately thereafter.

Schedule Released For Cage Tourney

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Host Providence College will meet Colgate in the first round of the holiday Invitational Basketball Tournament here Dec. 29 and 30. The Friars will engage the Red Raiders at 9 p.m. following an opening match between Boston College and Brown at 7:30. The winners and losers will be paired the following night.

Sportswriters Favor Giving Grid Coach Extra Privilege

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

By a 2-to-1 margin, sports writers and broadcasters favor giving a football coach the same privilege as most other coaches have — the privilege of conferring with his players and advising them during timeout intervals.

Of 195 experts casting ballots on this question in the Associated Press postseason football questionnaire, 121 voted yes and 62 no on the question: "Do you think coaches should be permitted to confer with the quarterback or team captain during time out, as is done in basketball?"

Besides objecting to coaching from the sidelines on traditional grounds, negative voters voiced two fears—that coaches would call every play and that the conference would slow up the game.

Other Top College Tilts Are Scheduled

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer

The battle lines are forming early this college basketball season and, with pairings like Kentucky-West Virginia, North Carolina-Northwestern and Auburn-Alabama, the sport has itself a tidy Saturday program coming up.

West Virginia, which used the Kentucky Invitation Tournament as a springboard to a year ago, meets host Kentucky in the current renewal at Lexington. North Carolina and Northwestern, both unbeaten clash in the Blue Grass Tournament finals at Louisville, and the Auburn-Alabama match is for the championship of the Birmingham Classic.

Coupled with another heavy round of major school inter-sectional play and the reappearance of Oscar Robertson and his top-ranking Cincinnati Bearcats seek No. 5 against St. Louis, there's plenty to whet the appetite of even the most exacting basketball fan.

He nearly had his fill Friday night with eight of the AP's top ten in action together with most of the hopeful challengers.

West Virginia, No. 7, hitting 76.2 per cent from the field in the first half and 54.3 for the game, overcame Oklahoma State 67-49 and Kentucky, No. 2, despite the illness of regulars Don Mills and Billy Ray Lickert, thrashed Ohio State 95-76.

Irish Bow Again

North Carolina, with Lee Schaffer whipping in 24 points, topped disappointing Notre Dame 81-77 and Northwestern, matching the Tar Heels' 4-0 record, beat host Louisville 73-66 in the Blue Grass.

Auburn's winning streak, longest among the major schools, rose to 15 in a 70-47 romp over Wyoming in the Birmingham Classic.

Alone before Alabama clipped previously unbeaten Texas A&M 66-62. In other tournaments, The Citadel (78-52 over Georgia) and Miami of Florida (85-79 over Florida State) made it to the title game of the Citadel Invitation at Charleston, S.C., and Catawba and Troy (Ala.) reached the Stetson Invitational wrapup. Catawba beat Birmingham Southern 68-63, and Troy eliminated Stetson 68-63.

Along with Kentucky, Auburn, North Carolina and Northwestern, five other teams extended their perfect records in the bustling Friday action while four others besides Texas A&M were dumped from the all-winning class.

Mississippi State, with Bailey Howell scoring 31, coasted over Morehead (Ky.) 87-63 for its seventh straight, and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia made the East's best — made it 6-0 by downing Kansas 67-65 in overtime. That one came as part of a double-header at Manhattan, Kan. before Kansas State, behind Bob Boozler's 19 points, recorded North Carolina State's first loss in six starts, 69-67.

Stein Stars

Xavier of Ohio, defending NIT champ, rallied behind Hank Stein's 15 points in the second half for its fifth straight — nine overall — 80-68 over previously unbeaten Seattle. Niagara is 5-0 after a 72-71 squeaker over Kent State and Cornell stand 4-0 after surprising Syracuse 77-74.

Southern California and Muhlenberg suffered their first losses — the Trojans to Oklahoma 60-50 and the Mules 52-51 to five-time loser Temple as Bill (Pickles) Kennedy hit with a jump shot with five seconds left.

Gene Estes's 30-footer with four seconds remaining for Tulsa beat Arkansas 54-52 and Texas Tech, with an afternoon national TV date today (NBC) against Missouri, warmed up with a 73-60 decision over Louisiana State.

PCC Sweeps

The Pacific Coast Conference swept a doubleheader from the Big Ten at Madison, Wis., with Washington topping the host Badgers 62-48 and California, now 4-1, defeating Iowa 71-52. Indiana recovered a little conference prestige, nipping Oregon State on the West Coast, 57-53.

Brigham Young, 5-1, whipped Santa Clara 80-39, Montana won its first in six tries 53-43 from Washington State, and St. Mary's of California edged Utah 75-73 in other Western features.

Valdes Clamors For Title Fight With Patterson

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Nino Valdes, proclaimed "pro" heavyweight champion of the world by his manager, is ready to give Floyd Patterson, the "amateur" champ, a crack at his title.

Nino's kingdom was so private that only he and his manager, Bobby Gleason, were believers until Friday night. Then he converted Pat McMurry of Tacoma, Wash., a TKO victim in 2:39 of the first round at Madison Square Garden.

As Gleason already had crowned the hulking Cuban in mid-week, he chose to be magnanimous in victory. "We want to be fair," he said with tongue in cheek. "If Patterson wants to fight us, we'll give him the first crack at our pro championship. Patterson is just the amateur champion."

Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, chose to ignore Gleason.

If D'Amato had agreed, Patterson would have fought Valdes Dec. 12 in Madison Square Garden. The match was on and off for weeks before it finally fell through.

Big Guarantee

George Raft and associates have sent D'Amato an offer of a $400,000 guarantee to defend in Havana in February. Although no opponent was named at the time, Valdes obviously would be the man for Cuba.

"Sure, I'm considering it," said D'Amato. "When a man offers that kind of money you consider it."

As for Gleason and Valdes they are ready for anything. "If Patterson don't want us, we'll fight Ingemar Johansson, the Swede," said Gleason. "Or Brian London or Henry Cooper. We'll fight them all in one night and it wouldn't last six rounds."

"Me fight anybody," said the 34-year-old Valdes. "Me want to fight champion."

A Snarling Tiger

At times during his 64-bout career, Valdes has been a reluctant dragon. Not this time. With 25 pounds in weight (Valdes' 213, McMurry 188) and reach and height on his side, big Nino was a snarling tiger.

"Me no tiger, me assassin," bubbled Nino. "Me keel Patterson twice."

"Twice? Why twice?" somebody asked.

"One for title — and one just for me."

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Elgin Baylor joining the Lakers of the National Basketball Association this season is tantamount to Mickey Mantle or Willie Mays being acquired by the Washington Senators in baseball.

Never before has a professional cage recruit been harnessed with the responsibility Coach Johnny Kundla necessarily had to consign to Elgin Baylor. And never has one come better equipped or turned in a superior job of shouldering it.

Baylor may save pro basketball for Minneapolis. The local group headed by Robert Short took a $100,000 loss last season on the gamble that the Washington, D. C., 23-year-old would bypass another year of eligibility at little Seattle University to play for pay. As cellar champions, the Lakers had the first draft pick late last March.

Baylor gave the Lakers the lift of a heavy construction crane. Had he not, the club would now be on its way to Chicago, San Francisco or Houston. As things stand, veteran observers say that the Lakers now require only one more big man to restore the team to the glorious days of George Mikan, during which it won five championships in the '40's from 1948-49 through '53-'54.

MAKING BAYLOR EVIL is attractive to the owners is that he has gate appeal. Attendance in Minneapolis is close to doubling last season's and the All-America kid of Springfield, Ill., of Washington, D. C., and College of Idaho and Seattle has hopped up bucks office appeal all the way around the circuit.

NBA coaches already rate Baylor, a king-size six-five weighing 230 pounds, with the three finest recruits of more recent years—Bob Pettit of the champion St. Louis Hawks, Cincinnati's strange, ly-hospitalized Maurice Stokes and the Boston Celtics' Bill Russell. He is second in scoring with an average of 25.5, behind only Pettit's 29.2. He is third in rebounding with 15.5, excelled only by Russell and Pettit. That will do for a kid walking in for his first whirl.

"This boy has as much ability and more ginger than anybody in the league," testifies Coach Red Auerbach of the Celtics.

SCHOOLED OBSERVERS GIVE Baylor 100 per cent in every aspect of the game except on defense, where he gets 50, which isn't at all bad. They fault him on defense for lagging in coming back, which is easily corrected. Otherwise he is murderous in that department, harassing, stealing the ball, deflecting passes and generally checking the other side's scoring. Offensively, he is a tremendous shot, rebounder and passer. He feeds the pivot with the roll pass with which the extraordinary Jim Pollard made Mikan matchless.

As strong as Rocky Marciano, he can take the pounding under the board.

Elgin Baylor has the added advantage of a natural head feint, which manifests itself in the nervous habit of twisting his head from side to side.

Never has one player done so much for one basketball club.

Town Board Tables Proposal To Create Rec Commission

A proposal by Councilman Tobie Geertsema (Ind.) to abolish the present town Recreation Committee and replace it with a Recreation Commission was defeated by a tie vote (2-2), but was tabled for further study, by unanimous vote of the Town Board this week.

Councilman John Pike (R) abstained from the voting on the first ballot. He said he was not fully acquainted with the mechanics of the present recreational setup and wanted more time to study the proposal.

Mrs. Geertsema and Justice of the Peace Dixon McGrath voted in favor of the resolution and Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons and Justice of the Peace Charles Farley voted against it, after considerable discussion.

Upon motion by Chairman Fitzsimmons, seconded by Councilman Pike, the resolution was tabled for further discussion.

Mrs. Geertsema's lengthy resolution led to a spirited discussion between her and Supervisor Fitzsimmons, who said he was compelled to vote against it, because in his opinion the committee as presently constituted had proved more than adequate and highly successful over the years.

Asserting that a backing of the present committee was in favor of a change, Mrs. Geertsema proposed several major changes, including a staggered membership, a six-man committee and autonomy in the matter of electing its own chairman and secretary and revised financial arrangement. Mrs. Geertsema also said it was her understanding that several of the members did not attend a majority of the meetings.

Supervisor Fitzsimmons expressed high praise for the performance of the 1958 committee and said he had full and complete faith in the way the Recreation funds had been disbursed. With respect to staggered memberships, he noted that this plan had been tried in the past but had not been entirely successful. He further pointed to a steady change in membership as providing "new faces and ideas" over the years. He said the 1958 setup had enjoyed tremendous success and he personally wished to thank the many individuals who volunteered their services.

Mrs. Geertsema replied that she concurred enthusiastically with Supervisor Fitzsimmons' appraisal of the 1958 committee and the overall performance over the years, but she felt that in view of the ever expanding program and the increased amount of funds and responsibility that a new arrangement was highly desirable.

Other members of the board took the general position that they needed more time to study the whole setup and it was unanimously agreed to table the resolution.

The resolution offered by Mrs. Geertsema follows: That following completion of its current term of duty, the present Recreation Committee of the Town of Woodstock shall be dissolved, and that there shall be established a Recreation Commission which shall possess all the powers, and be subject to all the responsibilities of the Town Board of the Town of Woodstock under Article 243 of the General Municipal Law of New York State.

"And be it further resolved that this Commission shall consist of six persons who are residents of the Town of Woodstock to be appointed by the Town Board of the Town of Woodstock to serve for terms of three years each, except that the initial appointees of such commission shall be appointed for the following terms: two commissioners shall serve for three years, two for two years, and two for one year.

"And be it further resolved that one member of the Town Board shall be ex-officio a member of the commission; that members of such commission shall serve without pay; that vacancies in such commission occurring otherwise than by expiration of term shall be for the unexpired term and shall be filled in the same manner as original appointments.

"And be it further resolved that the members of this commission shall elect from their own number a chairman and secretary and other necessary officers to serve for one year; that this commission shall have the power to equip, operate and maintain Town of Woodstock playgrounds and recreation centers; and may, for the purpose

Committee Named

Chairman Fitzsimmons named Justice of the Peace Farley and Councilman Geertsema a committee to investigate the placing of a fire hydrant in the Bears-ville section. The supervisor and Councilman John Pike were named a committee to arrange for the addition of a street light in the Pine Grove section.

To Turn Lights Off

The Board received a communication from the Central Hudson stating it would turn off two sections of street lights, as is the annual custom, during the Christmas Eve celebration in the Village Green. The Central Hudson said the board would have to assume responsibility during the period the lights were out and requested a waiver signed by the chairman of the board.

The board authorized Supervisor Fitzsimmons to sign the waiver, and Abram F. Molyneux, legal adviser to the board, said the town insurance policy covered all contingencies during that period.

Board Sets 10th As New Deadline

A compromise resolution setting the 10th day of the month as the deadline for filing resolutions to be placed on the Town Board meeting agenda was unanimously adopted by the Woodstock Town Board at this week's meeting.

A proposal by Councilman Dixon McGrath to abolish the current rule adopted by the board, voted against the McGrath resolution, along with Councilman John Pike and Justice of the Peace Charles R. Farley. McGrath and Councilman Geertsema (Ind.) voted for it.

Following defeat of the McGrath resolution, debate on the matter was extended. Councilman Pike said the issue had been tossed back and forth for some time and he felt it should be definitely resolved in some matter.

Councilmen Geertsema and McGrath took the position that, since the board recently adopted the third Thursday of the month as a fixed and permanent meeting date, the lapse of time between the first of the month and third Thursday was too long. From the ensuing discussion the 10th-of-the-month compromise was voted.

Set Membership Drive at Legion

Schuyler Schultz, membership chairman of Woodstock Post No. 1026 of the American Legion, has announced an intensive membership campaign for the village post after the holiday period.

Schultz made the announcement, after letters of commendation from the county and state commanders were read at this week's meeting of the post. Both letters praised the stepped up membership activity of the year.

Two new members were introduced—Arthur B. Case and Lawrence R. Deede, both of Woodstock—bringing the post total to 127.

It was announced that Gus Granlund of West Hurley, who was recently hospitalized, was in need of blood. A discussion took place on the feasibility of establishing a blood bank among members and Commander Chester Gaede said the proposal would be given some study.

The post also announced a $10 donation to the Christmas Eve program.

A contract for aluminum siding for the post building has been awarded Donald Moore, Woodstock contractor. The date for the next meeting was set as Wednesday, Jan. 28.

Re-Elect Jones Deputy Clerk

Among other items of business transacted by the Woodstock Town Board this week was continuation of the bond for Deputy Town Clerk Roger Jones.

Jones, who serves without salary dispenses fish and game licenses only, and takes no fees. The 25-cent fee for each license is turned over to the town board. Jones pays for his own bond.

The board approved the application of David Myer for renewal of the rental lease at town hall for purposes of showing movies at the present rate of $90 a month.

A contract for service and maintenance of the town hall, auditorium and town clerk's office was awarded to Frank cleaning establishment in Bears-ville and would be made available to the town on a dollar a year lease.

After some discussion by the board members, Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons said the question of setting up new play areas, rinks, pools, etc. properly came under the jurisdiction of the town Recreation Committee and the board agreed to refer the offer to that committee.

The township now operates a skating rink under Recreation Committee supervision at Andy Lee Memorial Field.

Myer Is Re-appointed Dog Warden for Town

David Myer of Woodstock was re-appointed dog warden for township by the Woodstock Town Board this week. The motion to retain Myer, who has served in that capacity for several years, was offered by Councilman Tobie Geertsema and seconded by Justice of the Peace Farley.

The job carries with it an annual salary of $240.00.

Fighting Breaks Out In S. Korea Assembly

SEOUL (AP)—Fighting broke out in the South Korean National Assembly today when guards tried to remove bedding of opposition Democrats who were staging a sitdown strike.

One Democrat was seriously hurt in the 10-minute fight which smashed furniture and overturned the speaker's rostrum. He was hospitalized.

The sitdown began Friday in protest to a bill by President Syngman Rhee's Liberals to amend the National Security Law.

The Liberals say the changes are needed to deal with increased communist espionage. The Democrats contend the changes would curtail press freedom and human rights.

Insurance Worth $87,000 Problem In Slaying Probe

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police investigating the mystery slaying of a $400-a-month clerk are trying to figure out where $87,000 worth of life insurance fits into the picture — if it does.

James Bullock, 27, was found dying of bullet wounds in front of the City Art Museum Wednesday night. He worked for the Union Electric Co. by day, attended classes at the University of St. Louis three nights a week and Saturday, and sang in a church choir on Sunday.

His wife of six months, Edna Ruth, 23, added $250 a month to the couple's income as a kindergarten teacher. In addition, they received $130 a month rent on the other half of a recently-purchased duplex in which they lived.

That gave them a total of $780 a month — before taxes and deductions. Police, who provided the figures, said that out of this modest income the couple was paying $255 a month on the duplex, $55 on a car, and $35 on furniture. They also were making payments on a $2,000 credit union loan used to make part of the down payment on the duplex, and paying premiums on the $87,000 worth of life insurance.

An insurance policy for $45,000 came to light Friday when a quarterly payment of $8.35 was due. Police said Mrs. Bullock had told them she knew of only $42,000 worth of life insurance on her husband: a $9,000 policy with his employer, two $5,000 policies, and a $23,000 policy covering the mortgage on the duplex.

Three Children Die In Cincinnati Fire

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three small children died in a fire in their fourth floor apartment late Friday night. Their mother screamed helplessly, unable to reach them. The victims were Joanne Dixon, 3, and her brothers, Teddy, 2, and Casey, 1.

The mother, Mrs. Beverly Dixon, 19, was playing cards with friends on the second floor of the apartment building when the fire broke out on the fourth floor. Neighbors tried to reach the children but were driven back by flames and smoke.

Firemen evacuated other residents of the building, and Mrs. Dixon stood screaming from the street as she was restrained from trying to reenter the building.

Cause of the fire and the damage were not immediately determined.

Editor Sentenced For Insulting Stories

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—A special press court has sentenced Yusuf Ziya Ademhan, chief editor of the opposition news magazine Akis, to 16 months' imprisonment for publishing articles allegedly insulting to Premier Adnan Menderes.

The magazine was ordered closed for one month. The court decisions are subject to appeal.

The sentences followed a retrial after an appeals court overthrew a 40-month sentence for Ademhan and a three-month suspension for Akis handed down earlier on the same charge.
